

THE BERKELEY

LONDON

Picture a world-class hotel that excels at everything you'd expect, while offering pleasures and discoveries you never anticipated.

It begins with the perfect location. At The Berkeley, your front lawn is the green splendour of Hyde Park, and your corner store, the singular shopping of Knightsbridge.

Rooms and Suites

Each of our 203 rooms, including 57 suites, offers a refuge from the rush of the city from the moment you arrive. Each, individually designed, is a study in urbane comfort with simple, beautiful details effortlessly combined. Individually chosen furniture, luxurious fabrics, bathrooms of Italian marble and original artworks abound.

Restaurants and Bar

Marcus – With two Michelin stars, Marcus Wareing's restaurant at The Berkeley is a must-visit destination for serious foodies. This is exquisite modern European cuisine, served in a room that is every bit as considered as the food.

Koffmann's – The legendary chef's eponymous and informal Gascon brasserie. Whether you are at lunch, dinner or enjoying a private dining experience, Pierre Koffmann, chef of chefs and mentor to a generation of British culinary stars, will cook up a seasonally inspired menu of French favourites.

Collins Room – Executive Chef Shaun Whatling brings together a tempting menu of British classics, inspired by seasonal and carefully sourced ingredients from some of Britain's most respected producers. The menu, full of reassuringly heart-warming dishes, combines wonderful ingredients gathered from forest, field, stream and seashore, served in a relaxed and convivial atmosphere.

Blue Bar – Inked in the little black books of those in the know, the Blue Bar is a favourite with our neighbours and friends from afar. Award-winning barmen work their magic on a comprehensive list of seasonally inspired and classic cocktails, and the buzz of conversation is interrupted only by the occasional sigh of corks being freed from bottles of some of the world's rarest champagnes.

Conference, Meeting and Private Dining Rooms

From business pow-wows to dazzling parties, The Berkeley's professional planning team, personal service and airy, light event rooms guarantee memorable occasions for two to 450 guests. The event spaces have a dedicated private entrance, all the latest kit and caboodle and were recently re-designed by leading interior designers.

The Berkeley Health Club and Spa

Complete with rooftop pool, gym and a secret garden, The Berkeley Health Club and Spa is also home to the Bamford Haybarn Spa which was brought especially to the Berkeley for its natural and organic treatments. It is a truly special place to relax and rejuvenate whilst gazing across Hyde Park.
