WHERE EVERY EVENT IS A GREAT OCCASION

BELMOND GRAND HOTEL EUROPE

STEP INSIDE OUR STORY

Entering Belmond Grand Hotel Europe is an occasion in itself. This heritage building's spectacular interiors are redolent with echoes of fabulous gatherings staged for some of the past century's most renowned personalities. The last Russian emperor, Nicholas II, entertained the King of Siam in the Krysha Ballroom, while Dostoevsky, Tchaikovsky and even the infamous Grigori Rasputin visited the hotel with friends.

And yet at Belmond Grand Hotel Europe we wear our history lightly because the present and the future are equally significant. We continue to host some of Russia's greatest occasions — and the most important event that we are planning now is yours.

KRYSHA BALLROOM

FROM BUSINESS TO GALA BALLS

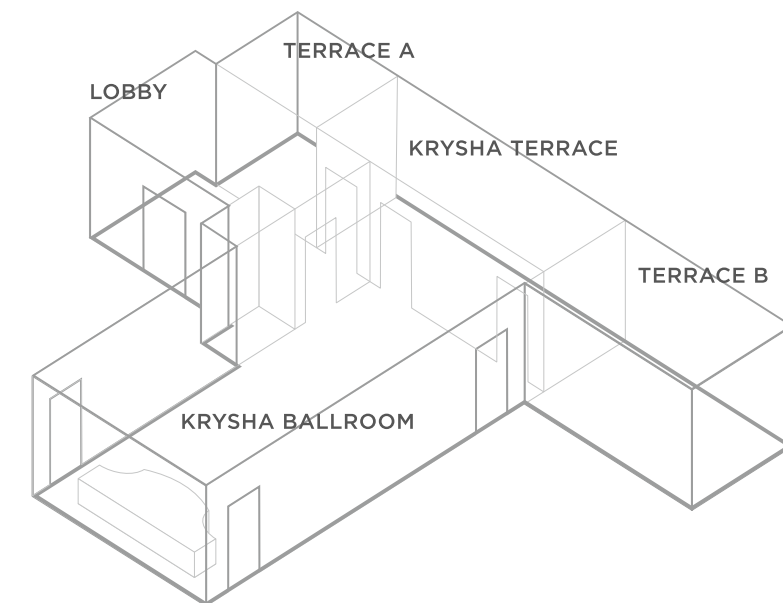

KRYSHA BALLROOM AND TERRACE

IT WAS TSAR NICHOLAS II HIMSELF WHO, IN 1908, PRESIDED OVER PLANS TO CREATE WHAT IS NOW THE CELEBRATED KRYSHA BALLROOM AND TERRACE ATOP THE HOTEL.

With its stunning stained-glass ceiling and sparkling chandeliers it quickly became the most fashionable venue in the city. Today, this period chamber has lost none of its lustre, and continues to dazzle both with its elegance and the sense of occasion it creates.

Countless historic events have been reflected in its beautiful mirrors, including the famous Six Presidents' dinner in 2006. The ballroom itself has an adjoining foyer and terrace, where a bar can be set up to welcome guests.

While these light-flooded rooms high above the streets of St Petersburg are perfect for weddings, large conferences and banquets, the ballroom can also be fully darkened for audiovisual presentations.

CONFERENCE CENTRE

IDEAL FOR MEETINGS, SEMINARS AND PRIVATE FUNCTIONS

Our conference centre is a very special, self-contained space: natural light, high ceilings and an airy ambience create a truly extraordinary working environment. With its own foyer—perfect for a reception area and coffee breaks—it is ideal for meetings, seminars and private functions.

DOSTOEVSKY AND PUSHKIN ROOMS

These two similarly-equipped function rooms are ideal for small meetings and presentations, being filled with natural light from large windows. Let our meetings manager assist you in planning extras such as menus, flowers and additional audiovisual equipment.

GORKY ROOM

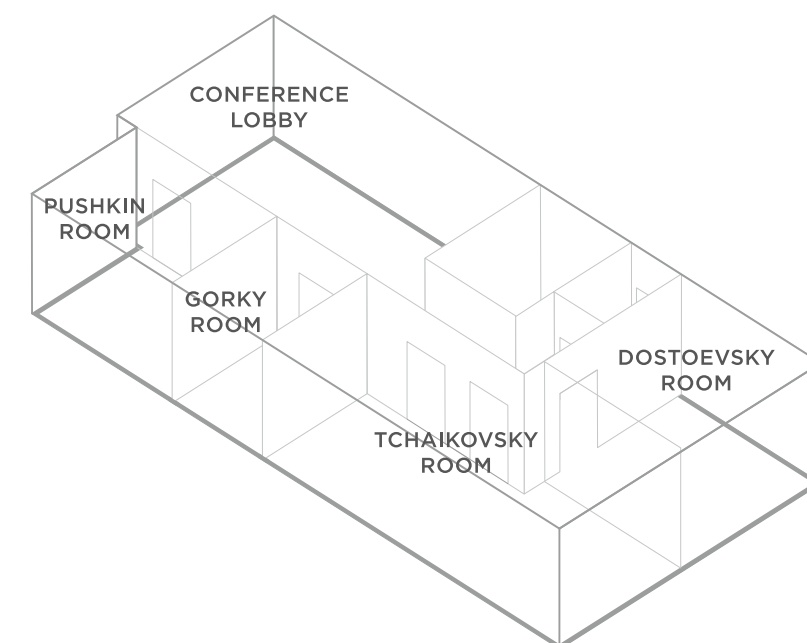

Magnificent windows allow natural light to flood into the Gorky Room, the perfect place to host business meetings and receptions. This distinguished venue, with period touches including a decorative fireplace, takes its name from the meeting held at Belmond Grand Hotel Europe in 1931 between Maxim Gorky and George Bernard Shaw.

TCHAIKOVSKY ROOM

The largest space in the Conference Centre, this can serve as the main conference room with beautiful views over picturesque Arts Square and the St Petersburg Philharmonic Hall. The room features historic elements of decor, while its name recalls the day in 1877 when the great composer visited the hotel with his young wife.

L'EUROPE BALLROOM

RICH IN ART NOUVEAU FEATURES AND ATMOSPHERE

L'Europe has been hosting grand occasions for more than a century. St Petersburg's celebrated restaurant can be transformed into your private ballroom, illuminated by the magnificent stained-glass window of Apollo in his chariot.

As you step inside the ballroom's luminous, art nouveau interior, it is intriguing to picture one of its most infamous guests, Grigori Rasputin, being trailed around the decorative alcoves by a posse of secret agents. This is just one of many stories that augment the rich personality of this glorious room. Other, more decorous chapters in its life and times include receptions for Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, Bill Clinton and the Oscar-winning film director Nikita Mikhalkov. And, on one notable occasion, Elton John was inspired to give a spontaneous concert here.

The uplifting atmosphere of L'Europe ballroom makes it ideal for full-scale banquets and dinner dances, while the upper balconies are the perfect setting for private dinner parties.

DINE AND DANCE IN IMPERIAL STYLE

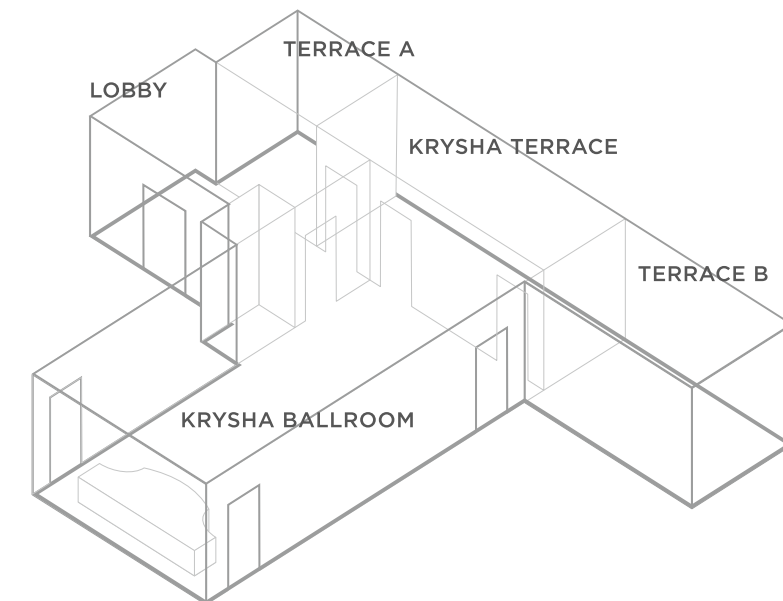

KRYSHA BALLROOM AND TERRACE

WITH ITS GLISTENING MIRRORS AND DAZZLING CHANDELIERS, KRYSHA BALLROOM IS THE ULTIMATE SETTING FOR A TRULY MAGICAL WEDDING

This magnificent space was conceived by Tsar Nicolas II, who presided over plans to create this celebrated ballroom atop the hotel. With its stunning stained-glass ceiling and terrace overlooking the city skyline, it quickly became the most fashionable venue in St Petersburg. Today, this period chamber has lost none of its lustre, and continues to sparkle both with its elegance and the sense of occasion it inspires.

An array of glamorous classic and themed wedding receptions have been reflected in the ballroom's beautiful mirrors. A private cloakroom, adjoining foyer and terrace, where a bar can be set up to welcome guests, ensure total privacy for your family occasion.

A stage and a secret staircase for musicians and performers make the ballroom an ideal venue for anniversary events, elegant dinner dances and banquets—especially when enhanced by the hotel's exceptional entertainment programme.

CAVIAR BAR AND RESTAURANT

A MAGICAL SETTING FOR CLASSIC CUISINE

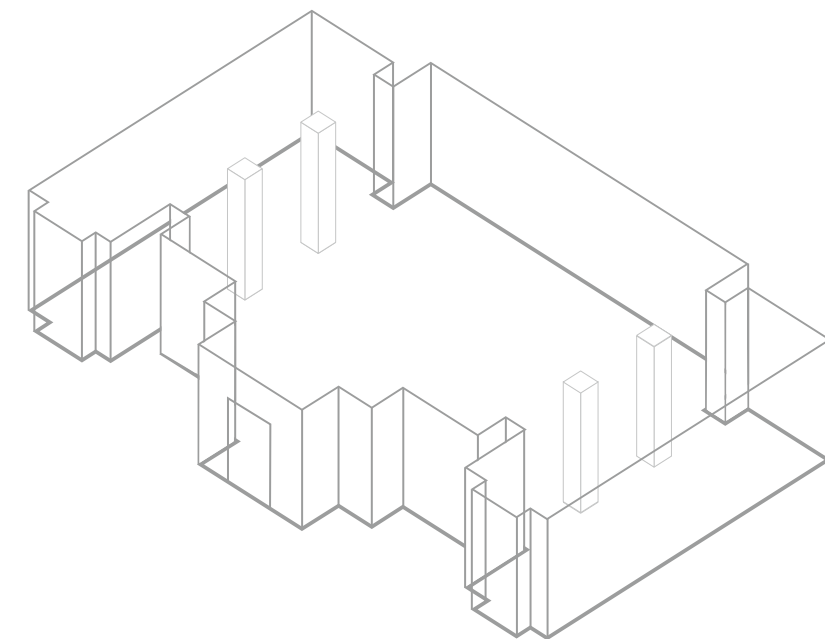

CAVIAR BAR AND RESTAURANT

THE ONLY CAVIAR RESTAURANT IN ST PETERSBURG

The Caviar Bar & Restaurant is an exceptional venue in which to savour delectable, authentic Russian cuisine.

Its magnificent, late 19th-century interior, formerly known as the Marble Hall, transports guests back in time to Imperial Russia with a luxurious combination of crystal decorations and elegant copper furnishings. The picture is completed by the historic marble floor, columns and walls, along with the room's antique mirrors and fountain. The fine details of the interior — the tops of the columns, gilded cornices depicting crayfish and daisies and stucco wall panelling portraying centaurs — are quintessential elements of the neoclassical style that was the last word in elegance at the turn of the 20th century.

With a trolley impressively arrayed with caviar, vodkas and a display of home-made Russian nalivkas, the Caviar Bar & Restaurant offers the ultimate in Russian ambience. It is the ideal venue for private dinners, official receptions or exquisite caviar tastings conducted by a vodka sommelier.
