ROOM LAYOUT GUIDE

BANQUET

A large room with round tables spread around, usually with a stage. Audience members face each other to enhance interaction, but some have their back to the stage. Used for awards, large corporate celebrations and occasions.

BOARDROOM

A traditional layout that facilitates conversation and discussion. The table is placed in the middle of the room with chairs around it. Used for small group meetings and breakout sessions.

CABARET

Round tables with delegates seated around half the table, facing front. A large gap can be left in the middle of the room to allow presenters to move around and reach delegates. Used for small to medium sized groups - especially in interactive sessions.

CLASSROOM

Delegates have their own desk or share with one other, facing front. Used for small to medium groups with the presenter communicating detailed knowledge and information. Used for training, workshops and testing.

THEATRE

The room is set up like a theatre to enable maximum room occupancy, with all attendees facing the stage. A common choice for communicating to large numbers of delegates, enabling interaction with the presenter. Used for product launches, presentations and displays.

U-SHAPE

The tables and seating are arranged in the shape of a letter 'U' making a large three-sided table, open at the front. All delegates can see each other and the presenter, so this is a good choice for group interaction. Used for presentations, meetings and discussions.
