The Music and Lifestyle Hotel Berlin

nhow Berlin,

Europe's first music hotel, is located right on the bank of the Spree and at the epicentre of Berlin's music, fashion and artistic scene. The entire interior of the nhow Berlin was designed by none other than New York's Karim Rashid.

His visionary designs, and their implementation by star architect Sergei Tchoban, form a perfect symbiosis. A work of art in its own right, the nhow Berlin is a modern architectural and design highlight of the capital.

It is where cosmopolitan business travellers mix with international jet-setters and the members of popular bands. What all these groups share is a love of music. A music manager on site, an exclusive guitar room service, and a high-end sound studio operated in conjunction with Berlin's legendary Hansa Studios and with a panoramic view of Berlin shout what other locations barely dare whisper:

Let's rock it!

MUSIC HOTEL
in Europe

A home for music - and for you

Thanks to their spectacular design and excellent technical facilities, each of our 304 rooms is a source of inspiration and at the same time a perfect refuge from the hustle and bustle of the city.

The nhow Berlin offers you a choice of three room categories. These range from the Standard Room, through the Superior Room to the Junior Suite. An unusual feature of the rooms is that you can choose from three colour schemes. 60% of the rooms have a view of the Spree. The ultimate experience is the 258 m² nhow Suite with its own 110 m² terrace, which can also be booked as an event location. The technical facilities are also state of the art. A high-quality audio system delivers perfect sound. Mattresses with a depth of 30 cm promise complete recuperation. The windows can be fully darkened for a deep and restful sleep.

Fabrics - a restaurant as inspiring as a good beat

Emotive and always „just right“. Enjoy Franco-German nouvelle cuisine of the highest quality, with food carefully prepared to preserve all the goodness of the ingredients and the natural flavour, and with a regional touch. Soul & funk for palate and mind alike.

Envy Bar

The 450 m² terrace right on the Spree with a view of the Oberbaum Bridge is not the only reason why our Envy Bar stands out. The drinks concept is based upon cocktails and an unusual selection of spirits, and is both as unconventional and as colourful as the Envy Bar's design.

nhow Studios

The breathtaking view across the Spree and our innovative technology combine to provide the perfect environment for creativity and productivity in the nhow Studios. With two recording studios, a recording booth and a large lounge, the nhow Studios are perfectly equipped for mixing, recording and events.

Record your company's song, or use the studios for exclusive team-building and motivational events. The studio team is available to provide professional support and advice.

The nhow Berlin also offers a unique guitar room service, around the clock. Guests can order a guitar or a keyboard from our range together with the associated accessories, including headphones, in their rooms at any time and free of charge.

Welcome to Conference 3.0

With seven different conference rooms with ceiling heights of up to 4.6 metres, and Berlin's only conference room with a direct view of the Spree through floor-to-ceiling windows and direct access to the terrace, we are able to offer a spectacular and unique location for your event.

Up to 930 guests can be accommodated here over 964 square metres. Whether you are planning a conference, party or product presentation: at the nhow

Berlin, the exclusivity of your event is guaranteed.

It goes without saying that the conference centre has its own entrance and generously dimensioned foyer, and can accommodate car presentations. One particular feature of the largest conference room is the direct cable link to the nhow Music Sound Floor in the crane house on the eighth storey. This enables press conferences, panel discussions and concerts to be recorded directly in the music studio.

Exclusive events

Germany's pulsating capital is the number-one location for unusual venues, original ideas, top catering and creative music. The nhow Berlin is a part of this movement, not only offering unusual premises – whether generously dimensioned and impressive, or small and intimate – but also ensuring that your event is unforgettable.

Weddings, fashion shows, gala dinners: whatever you are planning, we help to make sure that your guests won't want to leave.

A wide choice of rooms ensures the perfect setting for photo-shoots of every kind. In the heart of Berlin, and right on the Spree. You're looking for a special location for a special event? Choose the nhow Berlin as the location for your next company event, incentive or conference.
