Tegia means hut, and this hut serves up authentic and stylish Swiss specialities such as rösti and cheese fondue. The sun terrace is a cosy haven of tranquillity at any time of the year. One particular winter highlight is the torch-lit hike – you'll finish your walk by sledging back to the rocksresort on a Füdlilbob.

LA VACCA

It looks like any old tepee from the outside, but inside, it's just charming. At La Vacca, the finest meat specialities offer a treat for your taste buds and your soul. We'll serve you tender US beef, rib-eye, lamb, and our highlight, succulent bison fillet, all straight from the open fire. Our fine meat specialities can be accompanied by exceptional wines from around the world. Take a step back in time to the days when John Wayne was king of the prairie and the gauchos told their stories around the campfire.

DAS ELEPHANT 🏔️

The name sounds strange, if not downright absurd, but there's a method to the madness. During the summer of 1992, an elephant made a four-day guest appearance on the Crap Sogn Gion as part of the Crap Art cultural event. Seeing as culture usually goes hand in hand with good food, perhaps the name is not so far-fetched after all. The superb Italian cuisine and the wonderful view make for a very special ambience up here. Don't miss the legendary penne pasta prepared in a parmesan wheel.

One of the highlights at Tello is the kitchen party. Guests can watch the chefs as they prepare their meals, and collect their food from the kitchens themselves.
